16,000 CHEER
DEMAND FOR
RUSH ACTION

President Demands Defense Steps Be Taken This Month.

SINGS AMERICA WITH CROWD

"American Lives and Commerce Must be Defended," Says Wilson.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 3.—President Wilson demanded last night that steps be taken during the present month to back him in defending American lives and commerce abroad. His demand met with the shouts of applause from an audience of 16,000 persons, who waved American flags, leaped to their seats and cheered.

When the President ceased speaking he leaned forward and asked the great throng to join him in singing "America." The band played softly, the audience stood and the words of America's national anthem came in a glorious burst of song.

The big crowd was for the President from the start. It waited patiently an hour to see him and cheered itself hoarse in a three-minute demonstration when he appeared. Sixteen thousand heard him; 20,000 were turned away, and 10,000 more tried to glimpse him as he left his hotel for the hall.

"Why some men in Washington are questioning if we could get the 500,000 men for which the Government is asking," he said at one point of his address.

"Would they volunteer?" A man in the far end of the hall shouted his answer over the heads of the crowd: "Yes," he cried.

A dozen men—a score—fifty—echoed the word and the hall was in a turmoil. President Wilson smiled and held out his hand.

"Why, I believe," he said as the tumult died, "you could raise the 500,000 in almost any State. I believe you could get 5,000 men right here in this audience."

"I have been thrilled by the experiences of these last few days," the President said, "and I will go home to Washington and smile at the gentlemen who say the United States is not awake."

"Those gallant men who sit on the hill in Washington and make our laws are going to deliver the goods—!" The crowd cheered. "Don't misunderstand me. They are going to deliver the goods because you want the goods delivered."

The President said the time had come for him to ask his fellow citizens to "get up on your hind legs and talk and tell the people who represent you what the nation desires and demands. The thing that everybody in a democracy is listening for is the tramp! tramp! tramp! of the facts."

"I have come to ask you what is back of me in this task of preserving at once peace and your honor," the President said. "The judge on the bench has the law back of him with its bailiffs, sheriffs, National Guardsmen and the United States army, but if you ignore in some foreign capital what the President urges as the rights of the people and Government of the United States, what is there back of it?"

"It is necessary that I should come and ask you this question, because I don't know how long the mere words and insistence of your Government will prevail to maintain your honor and the dignity and power of the nation."

"There may come a time—I pray God it may never come, but it may in spite of everything we can do—upon us when I shall have to ask: 'I have said my say; who stands back of it?' Where is that force by which the right and majesty of the United States are to be vindicated and asserted?"

The President declared the need was immediate and that action should

BRUMFIELD
IS CHOSEN

As The Representative of H. H. S. in The Madisonville Contest.

HE IS GIFTED AS AN ORATOR

Will Take a Good One to Beat Him on February 25th.

Thursday night at the Christian church the Preliminary Contest was held. Potter Lackey, the President of the Delphic Society, presided over the meeting with a great deal of dignity.

After a short evening address by Mr. Lackey, he named the judges who were Messrs. W. P. Winfree, Herman Southall, and Frank Rives.

Edward Brethitt was the first speaker of the evening. His subject was "Our Country," and he delivered this speech in a very charming manner.

Robert Brumfield was the next speaker and he spoke on "The Shadow of the Cloud." Mr. Brumfield's speech and style of delivery were especially adapted to each other.

After Mr. Brumfield's speech, the judges retired and returned in a few minutes with the decision. They chose Mr. Brumfield to represent the High School in the coming contest on February 25th.

Robert Brumfield should have little trouble in winning in the contest. He has a wonderful speech and will certainly represent the school in the best manner possible. His diction is excellent, his manner pleasing and he undoubtedly possesses talent and graces of oratory. His fault is that he does not speak loud enough for a large building. If he will put a little more fire into his utterances, he will make a winner.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Brumfield.

Nashville Boy.

Oscar Olinger, 19 years old, of 910 Grove street, Nashville, Tenn., ended his life at The Seelbach Wednesday morning by firing a bullet through his brain in one of the guest rooms. Until recently he was a student at a deaf and dumb college in Washington, D. C., and was believed to have been temporarily demented because of worry over his studies.

be begun within the present month. "I assure you there is not a day to be lost," he said. "Not because there is any special crisis, but because I do not know twenty-four hours ahead what will happen."

"The future does not depend on us, but upon commanders of ships and of submarines and upon blockades and upon many other men, big and little."

"I have read editorials," he said, "sneering at the number of notes sent abroad by the Government, and in these same papers I have seen editorials against the preparation to do anything whatever effective, if these notes are to be regarded. Is that the temper of the United States?"

REFERENCE TO MEXICO.

A wave of applause swept over the gathering. A voice in the gallery cried "No!" and the crowd yelled again.

The President presented a warning that most of the munition factories of the United States were on the Atlantic seaboard and that therefore the nation must be ready to repel the first attack in order to avoid disaster. The present army, the President said, was so small that he did not even have enough soldiers to station along the Mexican border to prevent bandits from crossing the line.

MEETING FOR
MONDAY NIGHT

Poultry Improvement Club Getting Busy As Time Draws Near.

MRS. GRAVES STARTS FEB. 15

To Organize The Poultry Clubs Throughout The County.

The regular monthly meeting of the Christian County Poultry Improvement Association will be held on Monday night February 7th, at the H. B. M. A. Several matters of information will come up for discussion. Among which will be the working out of plans for the Boys' and Girls' Clubs and the matter of securing eggs, not only for the club work but for all who contemplate breeding White Wyandottes in the county.

At this time there seems to be a scarcity of eggs and stock in the country, nearly all breeders reporting few eggs to sell. The breed is becoming so popular that eggs and stock are being booked for shipment by breeders up to their capacity.

The opinion of the poultry breeders over the country is that in a very few years White Wyandottes will head the list in popularity; for they do well in the Northern states and in the Southern states.

Dr. Raymond Pearl, biologist of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station at Orono, Maine, who has had wide experience with the White Wyandotte says: "The White Wyandotte I look upon as one of the substantial, permanent sorts of poultry, the value of which for all-round utility purposes is unsurpassed. It has a very wide adaptability as to climatic conditions, giving a good account of itself wherever placed. In a cold climate such as we have here in Maine the White Wyandotte make splendid winter egg producers, when properly bred and cared for. Useful comparative studies which I have made of the egg production of different parts of the world have shown that the White Wyandottes stand in a leading place in this respect in comparison with other American breeds."

D. J. Taylor, Field Agent in Poultry Husbandry Georgia State College, at Athens, Georgia, is also a White Wyandotte enthusiast.

Mr. Taylor says: "The White Wyandotte is one of the breeds of chickens we have recommended to the farmers of this state. We recommended this breed of chickens because we felt it would come as close to filling the needs of the farmer as any other breed. What the farmer wants is a chicken that is first of all a good layer, a layer not only in the spring but in the fall and winter. Secondly, the farmer wants a chicken that is a good mother and a good setter, this requirement the White Wyandotte fills to the satisfaction of all. The farmers of this state want a chicken that is a good fryer at an early age and the White Wyandotte again is here with the goods. Few farmers, however, are raising White Wyandottes because they cannot get the eggs to make a start."

LOGAN SAYS NO.

The new attorney general has ruled like his predecessor that the result of the election for the county as a whole will not have the effect to authorize the sale of liquor in some district of the county that has previously voted "dry" under the local option law, and therefore it would not be lawful to license the sale of liquor in the town of Pembroke.

SUDDEN DEATH
OF E. M. BARNES

Leading Citizen of North Christian Died Early Yesterday of Paralysis.

Elbert M. Barnes, of the Fruit Hill neighborhood, died early yesterday morning at his home seven miles northeast of the city. His death was caused by a second stroke of paralysis. He had partially recovered from a stroke last fall and was up and going about. He had eaten his breakfast and returned to the family room and soon after was stricken and died very suddenly.

Mr. Barnes was 74 years old and was a member of the Pleasant Hill Baptist church. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Joe Fruit. His wife died about two years ago. The burial will be at the family burying ground this afternoon.

Mr. Barnes was one of the prominent and substantial citizens of his section, who had many friends in all parts of the county. For many years he had been a correspondent of the Kentuckian.

Trawler Sights Aircraft in The Water With Men Clinging To Envelope.

AID REFUSED THE GERMANS

Feared They Might Overpower Trawler's Small Crew.

Collier Sunk.

London, Feb. 4.—A Zeppelin airship and probably all her crew has been lost in the North sea. It is possible she met her fate through the fire of Dutch anti-air craft guns.

An English trawler rescuing Germans by reports having seen in the North sea the Zeppelin L-19, partly submerged, and with from sixteen to twenty men clinging to her gas envelope. Aid was refused the Germans because they outnumbered the trawler's crew.

Fifty shots, some of which it is believed hit her were fired at a Zeppelin Wednesday morning, as she flew low in a fog over the island of Ameland, off the coast of Holland. This airship, says an Amsterdam report, finally disappeared northward, a course which would have taken her to the North sea.

Thirteen men of the crew of the collier Franz Fischer were drowned when the collier was sent to the bottom in two minutes by a bomb dropped by one of the Zeppelins returning from the raid on England. Only three men of the Fischer were saved.

Heavy bombardments are in progress at various points along the western line, especially in the region of Loos, held by the British, and around Neuville, where the Germans recently captured French positions. The British are carrying out mining operations around Hilduch. Near the Bois des Buttes, north of the Aisne, the French put down a German attack.

There is comparative quiet on the Russian front, except for bombardments and minor infantry engagements. Unofficial advices say that floods in the Sty river region have compelled the Teutons to abandon strongly fortified positions, and that many deaths have occurred among these forces from pulmonary troubles, owing to exposure.

Along the Austro-Italian front heavy artillery duels continue. Nothing new has come through with regard to the situation in Albania. An Athens dispatch gives a report of an encounter between Bulgarians and entente-allied detachments at the junction of the Greek-Serbian-Bulgarian frontiers, in which the entente allies repulsed the Bulgarians.

News is lacking concerning the operations in the Caucasus and in Mesopotamia. A Bucharest dispatch says the German field marshal von Sander, who was commander of the Turkish army on the Gallipoli peninsula, has now been made commander of the Turkish troops in the Caucasus.

An Austrian submarine in the Adriatic sea has captured from the Italians the North German Lloyd steamer Koenig Albert, which was seized by the Italians in the harbor of Genoa, in 1914.

Bills are now pending to abolish the following positions, held to be useless offices: The office of hotel agent, fire marshal, two boards for the control of eleemosynary institutions, motor vehicle department,

second and third assistant attorney general, attorney to the rating board

The Keating bill, barring from interstate commerce the products of child labor, was passed by the house Wednesday 337 to 46 and now goes to the senate. It proposes heavy penalties for interstate shipments of any commodity made in whole or in part by children under 16 working in mines or quarries, or by children under 14 working in mills, canneries,
work shops or manufacturing establishments. Where children are employed at night or more than eight hours a day in this latter class of industries, the minimum age is 16
instead of 14. Opposition to the bill came largely from the South.

Indications are that the Appam will be awarded to Germany as a prize of war. The point to be decided is whether the Appam shall remain in possession of the prize crew
under the terms of the Prussian-American treaty or shall be returned to her British owners under the Hague convention. The state department has requested the customs authorities to land all passengers and "non-combatants." Their case now goes to the immigration authorities. Foreign consuls will care for their own nationals who are indigent. Those who can afford to do so, are free to go on to Europe. Those who wish to remain in the United States must comply with the usual immigration regulations. Any German who elects to return to Germany and cannot find ways to do so,
probably will have to be cared for by the government at some immigration station.

By a vote of 57 to 38, the house
voted to unseat "Uncle Bill" Allen, republican, of Clinton and Wayne counties, in favor of S. C. Dobbs, democrat. Democrats who voted for "Uncle Bill" were Representative
F. C. Greene, Carroll county;
L. B. Hamilton, Franklin county, and W. B. Harvey, Wayne county.
During the taking of the vote on the minority report submitted by Representative Spurrier, Frank Greene, in explaining his vote for it, said he had been reliably informed that had a certain republican senator voted for the partition of Pike county, the mountain preacher would not have been ousted, notwithstanding the nature of the majority report of the contest committee. This statement was followed by a signed one made after adjournment by Senator Robt.
Antle, of Russell, that the proposition had been made to him. "Uncle Bill" is said to be sore because Antle did not save him. It is no news to the public to tell about such trading votes. It is doubtful if any important bill is ever passed at Frankfort without a resort to such tactics.

WATCH YOUR TABLE LINEN

If Its Freshness is to Be Retained
Proper Care Will Be Found Imperative.

Good table linen, in the first place,
means much. But care of the same linen means more. Especially in the laundry must your table linen be properly handled if you would have it retain its freshness.

Strong bleaches must never be used on fine table linen. Of course, table linen is often badly spotted and needs to be cleaned in some way. But boiling water removes coffee spots, cold water removes cocoa spots, and sunshine removes many stains. When stronger agents must be used, they should be applied and removed by intelligent hands.

They should be allowed to remain on the spots just long enough to eradicate them, and then rinsed thoroughly out with clear water. For if they remain on too long they remove not only spots, but pieces of linen.

Some old-fashioned housewives occasionally have their table linen dipped in buttermilk to whiten it. The linen is allowed to remain in the buttermilk for a day or two, if necessary, and is then thoroughly rinsed in cool, clear water, later in warmer water.

For fruit stains, pour boiling water through them while the stains are damp, if possible. If they dry on, rub them with lard and put through the usual washing process.

Always dry table linen out-of-doors,
in the sunshine. If possible, have a little bleaching green.

Table linen must be quite damp
when it is ironed, and it must be ironed until it is perfectly dry. Napkins should be ironed on both sides, and a tablecloth should be ironed in the same way, to give it the best finish and appearance.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Small Things, But Well Worth Keeping in Memory or in Convenient Book.

Dark esleeces should be ironed on the wrong side with irons that are not too hot. The raveled threads from old linen will be found best for darning
tablecloths or napkins.

To remove automobile grease or any dark, heavy grease from washable fabric, rub on a small piece of butter and rub in well, then wash with soap and rinse and the oil and grease will have disappeared.

The turkey need not be sewed after the dressing has been put in. Insert toothpicks on either side and string back and forth over the picks. This is easily removed after the bird is cooked.

It should be a matter of common knowledge, since flour is always within convenient reach, that wheat flour is the best extinguisher to throw over a fire caused by the spilling and igniting of kerosene.

Blackening of Silver.

The housewife who knows that egg darkens silver is often at a loss to account for the stains that occur when she has not used egg. The sulphur which causes the blackening of silver is abundant in other substances besides eggs, particularly in cabbage, rubber of all kinds, hair, leather and white paper. Rubber gloves, elastic bands and the mats commonly used in sinks often darken silver. Silver should be placed in drawers or cases lined with colored paper, cloth or ve-vet, as the white materials have commonly been bleached with sulphur.

Plum Pie.

This pie is much like the English tarts and very delicious. Line the sides of a pudding dish with rich pastry, and fill with halved and pitted plums, scattering plenty of sugar between the layers. Cover with a top crust in which you have cut several slits and pinch the edges together closely. Make an ornament of leaves from the pastry to decorate the top of the pie. Then bake slowly till the plums are well done. If the pie browns too quickly cover it with paper for a short time, after putting in the oven.

The Oven Door Ajar.

When broiling steaks or chops, if the broiling oven door is left open just a bit, there is no liability of the fat catching fire; and when making toast in the oven much better results will be obtained if the door is left slightly open. Many of the newer gas stoves are made with a sort of openwork arrangement in the door of the broiling oven, which is quite useful for admitting air into this oven.—Pictorial Review.

Saves a Dry Mop.

Take a piece of outing flannel one-half yard long. Fold it to make a bag, sew up seam at bottom and one side. The fold forms the other side edge. Turn in open end and make hem one-half inch wide. Through this run a tape. Place this on your broom,
and for those having no dry mop it answers the purpose as well as gives it a polish. Floors around art squares are easily kept looking well by this method.

Household Help.

To get rid of cockroaches take two can covers; put plaster of paris in one and water in the other. Lay pieces of cardboard as a bridge between. The roach will eat plaster of paris and drink; the water will harden the plaster and roach will die. Also sprinkle borax under papers, etc., in cupboards and it will scatter them.

Stopped Those Pains.

Copper Hill, Va.—Mrs. Ida Conner, of this place says: "For years, I had a pain in my right side, and was very sick with woman's troubles. I tried different doctors but could get no relief. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I took Cardui, and it relieved the pain
in my side, and now I feel like a new

Suspicious Well Founded.

Not long ago a man was charged at a country court with trespassing, and also with shooting a number of pigeons, the property of a local farmer.
In giving his evidence the farmer was exceedingly careful, even nervous, and the lawyer for the defense endeavored to frighten him. "Now," he remarked,
sternly, "remember you're on oath!
Are you prepared to swear that this man shot your pigeons?" "I didn't say he did shoot 'em," was the reply. "I said I suspected him of doing it." "Ah!
Now we're coming to it. What made you suspect the man?" "Well, first I caught him on my land with a gun.
Secondly, I'd heard a gun go off and had seen some pigeons fall. Thirdly,
I found four of the pigeons in his pocket—
and I don't think them birds flew into his pocket and committed suicide
for the fun of the thing."

MAKING THE BEST OF BEANS

Way That They Were Prepared a Generation Ago Will Be Found Hard to Improve Upon.

In the Woman's Home Companion
the cookery editor devotes a page to good old-fashioned dishes. A dozen recipes are given for dishes that were popular a generation ago. The editor says that these dishes are not on the tables of the housekeepers of today
chiefly because carefully written rules
for their preparation are seldom found.
Following is a recipe given for Boston
baked beans:

"Pick over three cupfuls of pea
beans, cover with cold water and soak
for several hours. Drain, put in stewpan, cover with fresh water, heat gradually to the boiling point and let simmer until skins will burst, which is best determined by taking a few beans on the tip of a spoon and blowing on them, when skins will burst if sufficiently cooked. Drain beans. Serape
a three-fourths-pound piece of fat salt pork, remove a one-fourth-inch slice,
and put in bottom of bean pot. Cut through rind of remaining pork at one-half-inch distances. Put beans in pot and bury pork in beans, leaving the rind exposed. Mix one tablespoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar
and two tablespoonfuls of molasses.
Add one cupful of boiling water and pour mixture over beans; then add enough boiling water to cover beans.
Bake in a slow oven eight hours, uncovering the last hour of the cooking that the rind may become brown. Add more boiling water as needed."

RULES OF THE HOUSEHOLD

One Woman Writes Out What She Wants Done and Thereby Gets Results.

"The reason that we, as homemakers, are obliged to put up with unskilled and inefficient assistance is because we do not do our share in training the raw material," said Mrs. Good Housewife with some emphasis. "Suppose the great factories where employed labor is employed should be run on the system which prevails in so many homes? Suppose the employer should say, 'Oh, dear, I just hate to train a green hand! It takes so much time, and is such a bother!'"

"What sort of a product would that factory turn out? How long would that employer be able to stand the competition of other factories where a different method was used? Personally I believe in concrete rules. If a new helper can read a list of definite directions, or in the case of inability to read, have them read to her, they are fixed in her mind much more effectually than the same suggestions repeated in varying language.

"I have known girls who would resist being told things over and over,
learning this little list by heart, and taking a real pride in living by its simple rules."

Shad Roe Salad.

Soak the roe in cold water five minutes, then lay it carefully into a pan with one quart of boiling water, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of minced onion, one-half of bay leaf,
one teaspoonful of mixed whole spice
and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice; let it simmer (not boil) 15 minutes; pour off the water, add cold water carefully so as not to break the roe; add a piece of ice, and when the roe is chilled and firm dry it in a napkin; divide it into long strips and then into slices; serve on lettuce; pour French dressing over the whole.

Salt Codfish Balls.

Mix thoroughly equal quantities of hot mashed potatoes, seasoned with salt, pepper and butter, and of salt codfish which has been picked fine and soaked in cold water for several hours.
Moisten with cream or milk, add a well-beaten egg and form into balls.
When cold roll in cornmeal or crumbs and fry in deep fat. Cut a circle in the top of each ball, remove a spoonful of the inside and fill the cavities
with hot boiled beets chopped fine
and dressed with butter and pepper.
Serve at once with a garnish of crisp
lettuce leaves.

Chicken Terrapin.

Doll chicken whole and remove all the meat. Then make this sauce:
Melt one cupful butter, add two tablespoonfuls flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, pinch of red pepper, then add slowly one pint of milk. Add chicken in small pieces to the warm sauce.
Heat again and garnish with two hard boiled eggs and parsley, cut very fine and sprinkle over the whole when ready to serve. This is delicious and surely would be splendid for Sunday night's supper.

Raised Doughnuts.

One pint of milk, one-half cupful shortening, scant, one cupful sugar,
one-half cupful potato yeast, two eggs,
flour for batter a little thicker than for griddle cakes. Mix at noon or before two o'clock and when light,
which will be in about five hours, stir
in flour until the spoon will stand upright. In the morning turn out on molding board and roll thin, cut in shape and let rise until the doughnuts are light enough to stay on top of the fat, which should be hot.

To Grease Cake Pans.

To prevent layer or loaf-cake sticking to the pan, grease the latter well with butter, set in flour to cover every part, then shake out all the flour that does not adhere to the pan, and pour in your cake dough. This is the best way to grease cake pans, and paper, and is far less work.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION
OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price

There never has been a time when a newspaper was more needed in the household. The great war in Europe has now entered its second year,
with no promise of an end for a long time. These are world-shaking events, in which the United States,
willing or unwilling, has been compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Presidential contest also will soon be at hand. Already candidates for the nomination are in the field,
and the campaign owing to the extraordinary character of the times, will be of supreme interest. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S
regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and it is pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together one year for $2.65.
The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

Delaying the Count.

"Do you think mirrors will be placed in voting booths for the woman voter?"
"I hardly think so," replied the practical politician. "It would mean that every woman voter would spend at least half an hour in a booth and at that rate an election would require a week or more."

Mercenary Motive.

"What was the subject of the lecturer's address?"
"Peace at Any Price."
"Did he prove his case?"
"No. The audience was rather small and he cut out some of his most eloquent periods because he failed to get his price."

What We've Come To.

"In the old days when a man declared himself a Roman citizen no one dared harm him."
"True. And nowadays when a traveler in a foreign land says he's an American citizen, officials in gold braid
seem to think it's some kind of joke."

Nothing But Frowns.

"Frown at the world and it frowns back. Smile, and you get a smile in return."
"I dunno about that. I've had that last part fail to work when trying it on a pretty girl."

Of Course.

"That fellow is an old grump. He'd be sour if you went to him with a golden opportunity."
"Well, a golden opportunity ought to be able to stand a little acid."

Taking Life Easy.

"How's your son?"
"Fine! He's taking life easy since he graduated."
"What's he doing?"
"Sticking pigs at the abattoir."

When He Was Lavish.

"I presume you will remember your wedding trip?" "Yes, indeed. And I often wish that my husband had continued to care as little for money as he seemed to on that first journey we took together."

DOING MORE THAN HIS SHARE

Laborer at Bottom of Well Not Willing to Perform Work of Ten—Rather Give Orders.

Two laborers were engaged to deepen a well which had become dry. One of them sent his mate down into the well while he sat at the top and directed the work.

He first ordered the other man to dig a bit on this side, then "dig a little more on that side," until the latter, tired of both the work and the orders, exclaimed: "You sit up there and use your tongue while I have to do all the work!"

"One man here giving directions," said the man at the top, "can do as much as ten men down there."

Thereupon his mate threw down his pick and climbed up beside the other man. "What are you doing here?" inquired the latter. "Two men up here," answered his mate, "can do as much as twenty down there."

Wistful Waiting.
"Care much for fishing?"
"No," replied the melancholy man.
"It's a great sport."
"I haven't found it so. In fact, it has a very bad effect on me."
"Impossible!"
"True, nevertheless. Fish seldom bite fast enough to require my undivided attention and the longer I sit and watch a cork the more I'm inclined to brood over my troubles."

Knowledge is power, but it won't take the place of gasoline.—Pittsburgh Post.

RIGHT BOOKS FOR CHILDREN

Subject That Is Worth the Most Careful Consideration of Parents, Especially at This Time.

Children's minds as well as those of their elders are unfortunately turned to the great war in Europe. And with what results? If the struggle brings horror into our own adult thoughts, what conflict it must arouse in the childish breast.

It would seem that to this end a careful selection of books upon the subject might be used with great advantage—books which would show how all the great things in the world have been built up to be destroyed by an unreckoning force, books which would teach the young mind the abhorrence of destruction and instill therein a desire for future construction.

And, on the other hand, there are a great many books which can be read to children with the purpose of building firmly in their thoughts desires to learn of things which will act in the future as a counter-action against the great, unreasoning force which is at present devastating the greater portion of the world. There is a great deal of value in a right book.

BUILT TO WITHSTAND SHOCK

Architecture of Old Peruvian City Adapted to the Needs of the Locality.

The most characteristic phase of Peruvian architecture is found to be in the old city of Arequipa, which more than any other west coast city should be regarded as a home of culture in general, and therefore specially a center from which control and direction of the fine arts has proceeded.

The Peruvian "Tarrytown," we may call it, since the name Arequipa signifies in the Indian tongue "Yes; rest here." But orderly processes of architectural development were rendered impossible in Arequipa, even more infeasible than in other populous cities, mountain-built or on the Andean littoral.

Repeated and very violent earthquake shocks forbade such edifices as would have been stable enough in other lands to "rest here," or in security anywhere near the geosynclinal that follows the Andean coast line.

The cathedral at Arequipa, formerly more imposing than it is at present, is built of volcanic stone "in a style adopted," as a famous traveler writes "after the earthquake of 1821, which laid most of the city in ruins, as a security against similar catastrophes."

Better than any other large building it represents the earthquake phase. It is an expedient complying with, while bravely protesting against, imperative demands of the plutonic forces; not towered and domed, like the cathedral and the Campana at Cuzco, but capped with spires in the fashion of the church of San Pedro in Lima.

BIG DUST CLOUD IN ALASKA

Volcanic Ashes From Katmai Delayed Progress of Steamer—Explosion Heard Afar.

As we approach Kodiak, strange dark clouds were seen obscuring the horizon at several points and one so heavy and black that it resembled smoke from a great forest fire. Captain Jensen started us by explaining that this was dust blown by the stiff breeze from the lofty hills all about us. These hills seemed covered with snow, but the whitish deposits proved to be ashes, rained down several feet deep upon all this section during the eruption of Mount Katmai in June, 1912. Katmai is still smoking.

The sun looked like a dull silver dollar as it shone through the ashy mist. The dust cloud was so thick that it held our steamer up for four hours until the way was clear. Passing your hand over the rail of the boat you found your fingers streaked with the impalpable gray powder. When we landed at Kodiak we found piles of soft gray ashes and large and small pieces of light, friable stone, like pumice stone, which had been thrown out by the volcano.

United States Marshal F. R. Brennerman of Valdez, who was a fellow passenger with me, says the explosion of the volcano was heard at that place, 400 miles away from Kodiak, and sounded like a cannonading. It was followed by a deposit of fine ashes in Valdez.—John A. Slescher in Leslie's Weekly.

CHECK OVERLOOKED

Such a Small One That He Forgot to Cash it.

An incident that has just come to light shows that Harry Paine Whitney, New York multimillionaire, is engaged in thoroughbred racing for sport only, and not profit. Mr. Whitney has been notified by the South Louisville Bank that an $11,450 purse which he won when his filly Regret won the Kentucky derby in May, 1915, is still on deposit there. Shortly after Regret won, the money was put on deposit in the bank and Mr. Whitney was given a check for the money. This was some time ago, and $45 interest has accrued. Mr. Whitney was considerably surprised when notified by the bank president and informed that the check had been misplaced. He asked that the first check be canceled and a duplicate sent him.

FILIPINOS FREE IN FOUR YEARS

Vice President's Vote Passes Measure to Give Independence to Philippine Islands

Washington, Feb. 4.—A definite policy contemplating Philippine independence in not less than two nor more than four years, was approved by the senate, Vice-President Marshall casting the deciding vote in favor of the Clarke amendment to the Philippine bill, directing the president to withdraw American sovereignty within a four-year period. The vote which followed weeks of debate was 41 to 41. An effort to recommit the bill was defeated and final action on the measure, which has not yet passed the house, deferred until tomorrow.

Administration senators, in supporting the Clark amendment, maintained that some definite provision was necessary to square with the independence declaration of the Baltimore platform. President Wilson has made no public comment on the proposed amendment, but senators who have discussed with him let it be known he was not opposed to it. Chairman Hitchcock of the Philippine committee opposed the amendment and was supported by eleven other democrats. Five republicans, Senators Borah, Clapp, Kenyon, LaFollette and Works, voted for the amendment. Besides Senator Hitchcock, democrats who opposed it were Beckham, Lea of Tennessee, Lewis, Meyers, O'Gorman, Phelan, Pomerene, Ransdall, Reed, Saulsbury and Walsh.

By the terms of the amendment as perfected, provision is made for extension of time for granting independence if the president should deem it advisable until congress shall have an opportunity further to consider the subject.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—“When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies.”—Mrs. MAYME ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—“When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me.”—Mrs. A. L. McCASLAND, 509 Hlave St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—“I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it.”—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Ten Killed.

This is the fourth of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company's fleet to be lost in a short while, at a loss of $2,000,000.

Fairbanks, Alaska, was discovered by a Jap.

WORD FOR THE ONION

VEGETABLE SHOULD HOLD HIGH
PLACE IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

Without Doubt, It is the Best of All
Flavoring Agents—Should Be Soaked in Cold Water Before Being Served Raw.

Onions, cabbage, turnips, carrots—what housekeeper does not tire of the endless monotony of the displays of these vegetables in the winter shops? Of course, nowadays almost all of us can afford hothouse vegetables in the winter. So cheap they are that they are no longer a treat. Nevertheless, these old winter standbys are still standbys for us, and the more we know about cooking them temptingly the better.

Onions have more possibilities, perhaps, than any of the others, for onions are one of the best flavoring agents. And the number of times a week onions can be successfully used depends almost wholly on the ingenuity of the cook.

For flavoring salads, either rub the dish in which the salad is mixed with half an onion or else place a tiny piece of onion under a little piece of bread. In this way the flavor of the onion permeates the whole dish and yet the salad does not come into direct contact with it.

Onion juice or grated onion can be used in flavoring soups and stews when a strong flavor of onion is not desired. And if only a slight flavor is liked parboil the onion before adding it to the stew or soup.

When raw onions are served soaked in vinegar for an hour in cold water. This moderates their flavor and really improves them immensely. The sharp taste is lacking and only the best of the onion flavor remains.

Many persons who do not like raw onions do like them cooked, and almost nobody finds cooked onions indigestible—raw ones cannot always be digested. Moreover, cooked onions contain desirable food properties and are an important item in the winter diet.

One delicious cooked onion dish is prepared from onions boiled tender and put in a buttered baking dish. Grated cheese over, under and between them. A little milk is added and the dish is baked until the cheese melts.

Another good onion dish is made from boiled onions, placed in a buttered baking dish, covered with cream sauce and sprinkled with grated cheese and bread crumbs. This should be browned in the oven.

Main boiled onions served with melted butter and pepper and salt are good. They should be cooked tender and served very hot.

Onion soup, too, is good unless one really dislikes the onion flavor. Onions are boiled to pieces in water and this water, strained, is then mixed with hot milk, seasoned and lightly thickened. It is served very hot with croutons.—Frances Marshall, in Chicago Daily News.

Buttermilk Doughnuts.

One cupful of buttermilk, one cupful of brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one egg, one-half teaspoonful of baking soda, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Cream the butter and sugar together, then add the egg well beaten, the buttermilk, soda, cream of tartar and enough sifted flour to make a stiff dough. Roll out about a quarter of an inch thick, cut with a doughnut cutter and fry in plenty of smoking-hot fat. Drain and dust with sifted sugar.

Delicate Corn Starch.

Heat one pint water, add two tablespoonfuls corn starch, three tablespoonfuls sugar, pinch of salt, mixed together. Then add well-beaten whites of two eggs and cook until thick.

Custard Sauce for Above.—One pint hot milk, one teaspoonful corn starch, three tablespoonfuls sugar, mixed together. Add to hot milk. Then add yolks of two eggs, cook until thick and flavor with vanilla.

Bake Ham or Sausage.

Who has ever fried ham or sausage without becoming annoyed at the spattering of grease and smoke which filled the room? All this can be avoided by preparing the ham or sausage for frying, and placing in a moderately hot oven, bake for half an hour or until as delicately browned as desired. It will be deliciously tender, and no one can tell what meat is to be served until it is placed upon the table.

Hominy Cakes.

Materials—One cupful cold cooked hominy, one egg, one tablespoonful melted butter.

Utensils—Bowl, measuring cup, beater, tablespoon, griddle.

Directions—Break up hominy with fork add beaten egg and melted butter. Fry like griddle cakes. Serve with sirup or bacon gravy.

Salade Louise.

Cut up a julienne of celery, apples, chicken, tongue, potatoes and beets and season with French dressing. Serve in fresh artichoke bottom with a julienne of truffles sprinkled over it. Serve very cold.

Jelly Bag Rack.

Take an old kitchen chair, saw off part of the legs, turn upside down, use a square of cheesecloth reaching all four legs. Pour in the fruit to be strained and put a dish underneath it to catch the juice.

Agricultural Advice.

Nothing should be allowed to go to waste on the farm. A considerable saving can be made in the matter of medicine, for example. Such portions of remedies as may be left over after a long spell of illness, the contents of various bottles in the cupboard from which the labels have been lost, and the sample remedial agents that are left at the house from time to time, should be poured into a jug and the hired man dosed with the mixture whenever he complains of being so run down that he must take a day off to go to town. One dose will probably not kill him and the same hired man has never been known to desire a second dose.—Kansas City Star.

FARM STOCK

ARE FALL PIGS ADVISABLE?

One Farmer Adopts Plan of Raising Two Litters Yearly, Thereby Keeping Brood Sow Busy.

It is a question with many farmers whether it is advisable to raise fall pigs. It is our practice, writes a farmer in an exchange, to raise fall pigs, two litters a year as near as possible. We would abandon the fall pig entirely if we had to keep him until one year old before putting him on the market. We do not feel we can afford to keep a brood sow for raising only one litter a year, and we have fallen on the plan of growing two litters to keep the sows continually at work.

Spring-farrowed pigs we do not keep, as a rule, longer than eight months old. This puts them off the farm by the time the fall pigs need extra care. Up to this time they have been fed principally through the dam. When about ready to leave the dam we begin to give them a slop ration, which we keep up until they go to market. We begin feeding corn—small quantities at first—as soon as they have been weaned. The slops consist principally of skim milk, and right here we want to say there is nothing that compares with skim milk as an accompaniment to corn for the growing pigs. When there is no skim milk to be had we have used wheat middlings scalded in hot water with fair results.

ATTENTION TO COLT'S FEET

Great Danger in Allowing Hoofs of Young Animal to Grow Too Long—Avoid Trouble Later.

It has often been said that a horse's feet are the most important parts of its body; and anybody who has had experience with lameness and inability of horses to do a reasonable amount of work because of lameness of one kind or another, will readily acknowledge the importance of properly caring for the feet of the equine stock on the farm.

Proper care of the horse's feet means that attention must be given when he is a colt. In fact, if the horseman or farmer carelessly allows the colt's hoofs to grow long and uneven, there is a great deal more danger of injuring the feet or deforming them than if the same carelessness is practiced with mature animals. The bones, ligaments and tendons of the colt's feet are not so hard nor so strong as those of the mature horse, and the result is that improper standing, induced by poorly shaped hoofs, throws the bones and ligaments out of their natural positions. Again, it may be a case of where the colt's legs are crooked at birth, and in such instances care and attention to trimming the hoofs may be of considerable help in straightening the legs.

In handling the colt's feet it is best to begin with the front ones. Teach the colt to rest his weight on the opposite foot, rather than the one which is being held, by shoving it enough to throw the balance over on the opposite foot at the same time the other foot is picked up. The proper learning of this lesson will often save considerable trouble later when the colt must be shod.

After the colt's feet have been picked up in this manner a few times its hoofs can be trimmed with but very little trouble. Give this matter attention and often the colt will come out with a good set of legs, when it otherwise would be greatly hampered at work or on the market by crooked and weak "underpinning."

SPREADING OF HOG CHOLERA

Important That Owners of Healthy Animals Keep Away From Farms Where Disease Exists.

Doctor Koen, the United States government inspector in charge of the hog cholera in Dallas county, Iowa, reports that 29.6 per cent of all cases of hog cholera were caused by the germs being carried from one farm to another by farmers exchanging work or visiting each other. It is important, therefore, that owners of healthy hogs keep strictly away from farms where the disease exists and should keep other people away from his own hog lots and pastures.

By using disinfectant freely on hogs and wagons which have been in the neighborhood of the disease, and by requiring everyone who comes to the farm or goes near the hog lot to disinfect his feet, the spread of the disease can be very greatly reduced.

DAIRY FACTS

GUERNSEY GAINING IN FAVOR

Deep and Prolonged Milking Qualities Make This Type of Dairy Cow Valuable Acquisition.

The average Guernsey cow will weigh about 1,000 pounds, with the bulls weighing 200 to 300 pounds heavier, says the Agriculturist. The head of the Guernsey cow is long, with a slender neck. The body is large and deep, showing ample capacity for disposing of roughage. The flanks are thin. The muzzle of the Guernsey cow is usually small, curved and wavy and may show yellow at the base. One of the distinguishing characteristics of the Guernsey is the large secretion of yellow coloring matter in the skin, showing particularly where the hair is white, as around the ears and eyes and on the udder and flanks.

The Guernsey has no pronounced weak points. The addition of Guernsey blood in crossing with cows of mixed breeding will result in a higher milk flow and in a richer milk. The deep and prolonged milking qualities of the pure-bred Guernsey, together with the adaptability to the conditions of the average farm, make this type of dairy cow a formidable competitor to the breeds which have a wider and greater distribution. The production of milk that tests 4 per cent, and even 5 per cent, and sometimes 6 per cent, means much when taken in connection with the fact that the Guernsey is an economical producer. High production, low cost, high test, adaptability to average farm conditions, together with no pronounced weak points—these are the factors which make the Guernsey increasingly popular.

BEST TIME FOR THE CALVES

Autumn Is Favored on Account of Slack Work Around Farm—Danger of Scouring Is Less.

Calves may be reared better and more economically when they come in the autumn rather than in the spring and yet this style of breeding which had something of a vogue 20 years ago is still lagging. In the winter season the boys have ample time to attend to the calves and can give every attention to the amount of each kind of food required to keep them humping along.

When calves are raised essentially on skim milk and adjuncts, the chief danger is that they may be more or less affected with indigestion. Now when the calves are on dry food such as is given to them in the winter season this trouble is reduced to a minimum. If skim milk is fed in large quantities and some flaxseed meal is fed at the same time when the calves are on succulent pastures, it is almost impossible to prevent them from scouring.

In winter when on dry foods this danger is much less imminent. The calves may be carried through the winter in good form and they are vigorous animals, if properly fed, when the pastures are ready in the spring.

REMOVING ODORS FROM MILK

Federal Investigators Have Discovered Method to Remove Unpleasant Smells and Tastes.

A method has been discovered by the federal investigators for removing disagreeable odors and flavors from milk. The taste caused by cows eating wild onions or garlic can be removed by blowing filtered and washed air through the milk for thirty to sixty minutes, according to the strength of the flavor to be removed.

It is necessary to heat the milk to a temperature of 145 degrees, as air blown through cold milk in a similar manner does not remove the disagreeable flavor. It also has a tendency to turn the fat into butter. It was found that the onion flavor is removed more quickly when milk is heated to 160 degrees, but this tends to produce a cooked taste and also reduces the cream line. In the case of cream with flavors of this kind, the same method can be used, except that it requires a slightly longer treatment. The loss in evaporation by using this method amounts to two or three per cent.

Benefits of Silage.

The silo makes it possible to raise more feed and to keep more cows on the same acreage and substitutes certainty for uncertainty in the management of the herd to an extent impossible in any other way.

SCHEMES AND DREAMS

Athenaeum Hears Two Good Papers on Widely Different Subjects.

The Athenaeum held its regular monthly meeting Thursday night with the following members present:

President S. Y. Trimble, Secretary H. W. Linton, Dr. Austin Bell, Dr. Manning Brown, A. H. Clark, L. H. Davis, J. W. Downer, A. H. Eckles, L. E. Foster, T. J. McReynolds, Jas. A. McKenzie, Chas. M. Meacham, Frank Rives, Ira L. Smith, Ira D. Smith, John Stites, Dr. F. M. Stites, T. C. Underwood and Pettus White. The essayists were H. W. Linton and Dr. F. M. Brown.

The former wrote on "The Brook Farm Experiment," made famous in Hawthorne's "Blythedale Romance." It was a paper of surpassing interest.

Dr. Brown's paper on "Dreams," treated in a scientific way, was listened to with the closest attention and was greatly appreciated.

Both papers provoked a general discussion.

There are three vacancies to be filled at the next meeting.

Our Medical Conquests.

Many readers have been interested in allusions they have seen in the newspapers from time to time to some specific efforts for improved health conditions in Latin America, carried on by Governments through the valuable methods supplied by the Rockefeller Foundation. It was proposed to enter Mexico at once, provided General Carranza co-operated in the requisite manner, for the sake of an organized crusade against the terrible epidemic of typhus that is more dreaded than the bullets of revolutionary armies. Our greatest work at Panama was not the building of the Canal, but the conquest over infectious disease. Likewise, our chief contributions to Cuba and Porto Rico have been in the field of medicine and public sanitation. With its medical work in Latin America now well begun, and its vast program for establishing modern medical and health institutions in China, the Rockefeller Foundation has conceived of projects that will save more lives than the European war will destroy.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for February.

TO LAY THE CORNERSTONE

Of The New Methodist Church With Imposing Ceremonies.

DATE IS ON FEBRUARY 21

Some of The Ablest Men of The Denomination Expected To Be Present.

The cornerstone laying rally of the new Methodist church will occupy the attention of many people in Hopkinsville for two days two weeks hence.

On Sunday, Feb. 20, there will be three services of no ordinary interest to the Methodist people of this community and surrounding country, and their friends, and it is believed by the entire city and county.

Bishop James Atkins, D. D., will preach in the morning, Rev. Dr. T. N. Ivey, editor of the Christian Advocate, the organ of more than two million Methodists, will deliver an address in the afternoon on "Methodism and Christian Literature."

At night Rev. Dr. H. M. DuBose, editor of books, and The Methodist Review, a veritable silver tongued orator, will deliver his address on "Bishop Francis Asbury and American Methodism."

On Monday, Feb. 21, at 11 a. m. the ceremonies of the cornerstone laying will take place on the ground and at the building, and will be presided over by Bishop Atkins, and the entire community is most cordially invited to participate with their Methodist friends in all the exercises of this great occasion.

High At Henderson.

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 4.—The highest price paid for leaf tobacco in this city this season was reached Tuesday at the loose leaf floor when J. N. Overfield, a tobacco grower of near Dixie, received $15 a hundred. The highest price paid for leaf heretofore was $14.50. Mr. Overfield had over 600 pounds of leaf of the quality that brought the high figure. Older tobacco growers say that the price Mr. Overfield received is the highest paid for tobacco since the civil war, when leaf tobacco sold as high as $60 a hundred in this city. Owing to bad roads, only 175,000 pounds were sold.

HUNGARIAN GOULASH

Served at Informal Reception To Director Sam Schildkret, at Mr. McPherson's.

Schildkret's Hungarian Orchestra gave a fine concert at the Tabernacle Thursday night, being a number of the Redpath Lyceum course. A large and thoroughly appreciative crowd enjoyed the music.

After the performance a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McPherson were invited to go to their beautiful new home on Fifteenth street, where Director Sam Schildkret concocted a Hungarian dish called "Goulash" that was served as a refreshment course. The musician proved an adept in domestic science and culinary skill. He vehemently resented a suggestion that it tasted like "soup." It was made of meat, onions, carrots and mushrooms and was a new dish to the guests, and the musician will be long remembered both for his musical skill and his cooking triumph.

BELL-METCALFE.

Miss Minor Metcalfe, of Princeton, Ky., who had been the guest for several days of Mrs. H. Richardson, in Clarksville, was married Tuesday to Mr. John Bradford Bell, of Nashville. The ceremony took place in the office of the county clerk of Cheatham county, at Ashland City. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Metcalfe and is a niece of Messrs. T. L. and J. J. Metcalfe, of this city.

Thought She Was Married.

Damages in the sum of $20,000 for alleged fraud in getting her to participate in an illegal marriage, which she did not ascertain was unlawful for nearly three years, are asked in a petition filed in the Jefferson Circuit Court by Christie C. Hayes against Frank W. Freeman. The plaintiff alleges she was induced to contract marriage with Freeman June 11, 1906, when she was only 12 years old, by wicked artifices and devices on the part of the defendant, and that she assumed the relation of wife to him until January, 1909, when she learned that the supposed marriage was wholly void.

IN MEMORY

On January 6, 1916, at 1 o'clock a. m., death entered the home of Col. and Mrs. E. M. Meacham, at Bluff Springs, and claimed their lovely daughter, "Opal," after an illness of three weeks of a complication of diseases.

Opal was born July 8, 1899, and was just entering into womanhood, being sixteen years, five months and twenty-eight days old.

She was a consistent Christian, having made a profession of faith in Christ at her home, on Sunday, Aug. 28, 1914; uniting with the West Union Baptist church she was baptized into the fellowship of the same Aug. 29, 1914, by her pastor, Rev. Turley.

Opal's devotion to her mother, father, sister and brother was beautifully shown in her ever deep interest in their comfort and her love for home.

She was of a bright, cheerful disposition, always greeting her friends with loving smiles and gentle words. Her affectionate and gentle nature was generously displayed at all times towards her teachers and classmates, who are saddened by the loss they have sustained in her untimely death. As a token of their devotion to her, they gave a beautiful floral tribute to her memory.

Opal was ambitious to obtain an education and expected to take the County Diploma examination for entrance into High School, intending, in the future, to teach. That she would have made a conscientious teacher, was evident, because of her loyalty to truth and right while a pupil.

We cannot understand why God had loaned this noble flower, for so short a time, to shed abroad its beauty and sweetness in its earthly home, but we know that in His allwise providence He has claimed his own and has transplanted it in Heaven.

Dear parents, let this fact cause you to bow in humble submission to the will of Jesus, whom Opal loved and accepted as her Savior, and who has promised that He would lay no burden upon his children greater than they could bear.

God grant that this may be an unbroken family in heaven.

Opal expressed this desire in her request that "God be With You Till We Meet Again" and her great faith in her Master by asking that "We Shall Sleep But Not Forever" be sung at her funeral, which was conducted by Rev. T. T. Powell in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends at the home on Friday Jan. 7, 1916.

Her remains were quietly and tenderly laid to rest in the family burying ground near her home.

All that loving hands and medical skill could do, could not restore the dear one to health. It was God's will for her to leave this world of sin and care and go to Him to be at rest forever.

Weep no more, dear mother, let the words of God bring comfort to your bleeding heart. Weep no more dear father, but prepare to meet her on the celestial shore, where she is beckoning you to come.

May God bless you all is my prayer. A FRIEND.

Circus Case Argued.

The Tennessee Court of Appeals has before it a suit against Barnum & Bailey's circus. J. M. Boswell, a citizen of Memphis, took his bride to see the circus, bought reserved seats, had considerable difficulty in getting to them, had a falling out with the usher, who is alleged to have used terms with which he had addressed the dumb brutes. Boswell, used some strong language himself, but did not go outside the terms that are acceptable in polite society. After all was said and done, Boswell brought suit for damages against the circus company and attached the baby elephant of the show. A verdict for $500 was given the plaintiffs and the circus appealed.
